

Navarro Central Appraisal District sending reapplication forms to Navarro County Age 65 or Older Exemption Property Owners from A-L

Property owners in Navarro County who currently have an Age 65 or Older exemption are being asked to reapply for their exemption, according to Karen Morris, Chief Appraiser of the Navarro Central Appraisal District office.

“We are reviewing all existing accounts that include an Age 65 or Older exemption to make sure each one accurately reflects the current and past exemption amount. Mrs. Morris said. “A letter and application are being sent to Navarro County property owners who fall within the last name beginning from A-L for the 2019 tax year. The Navarro Central Appraisal District is asking taxpayers to complete the application and return it to our office before October 3, 2018 to give us ample time to review the reapplications before the Notice of Appraised Value letters are mailed out.”

She added that all property owners whose last name begin with M-Z will be asked to reapply for the 2020 tax year.

An Age 65 or Older exemption entitles the property owner to a larger tax exemption on homestead property only, according to the Texas Property Tax Code and local options voted by each taxing entity. To be granted an Age 65 or Older exemption you must complete the application and return along with a copy of your Texas State Driver’s License or State Identification Card.

For more information about the reapplication for exemption you may contact the appraisal office at 903-872-6161 or information can be found on the Navarro Central Appraisal District’s website, www.navarrocad.com. The application process may also be completed online using the online forms tab.
